

LIST OF OFFICES BY COUNTRY: ONSCREEN VERSION

December 2011

Using the guide

All Group offices are shown in this directory, which was correct at the time of publication. More detailed, up-to-date information and contact details for key employees are available on our web site, www.lr.org, under office finder and people finder.

Offices and contact details

The main contacts for the marine sector can be found in the country pages (11 to 43). If you are looking for offices that specialise in services to the rail and energy sectors, or for management systems certification and business assurance services provided by LRQA, you will find relevant business centres listed on pages 8 to 10 and more offices for these sectors in the country pages.

The offices are listed alphabetically by country and then by town or city. Area offices are listed according to the country and city in which they are located. At the start of each country there is a note of the area office that covers the country.

Telephone, fax and mobile numbers

Contact numbers are shown in the full international format. The '+' indicates the international prefix you need to dial to connect to another country. This is followed by the country code, also needed when you are dialling from abroad.

The national direct dialling prefix (NDD) is then given in brackets. This prefix is the code used to make a call within that country from one city to another - you do not need to include it when dialling from abroad. For example, the London number T +44 (0)20 7423 2654 should be dialled as 0 20 7423 2654 within the UK outside London and as 00 44 20 7423 2654 from outside the UK (00 is given as an example of the international prefix, which may vary depending on the country from which you are dialling).
